

Allium is Returning to Turkey and will Recognize Revenues in the Current Quarter:

Two distribution agreements were signed in Turkey, at an overall amount of at least NIS 9 million over five years

Caesarea, Israel - September 2, 2015: Allium Medical Solutions Ltd (TASE: ALMD), a medical device company that specializes in minimally invasive technologies, announced today that it has signed two exclusive distribution agreements in Turkey for its urological stents and pelvic floor organ prolapsed repair product lines. The agreements are with a distribution company that has been operating in the Turkish market since 1999 and specializes in the import and distribution of disposable surgical products in various medical device fields, including urology, gynecology and cardio-vascular. The company operates in both the public and the private sectors across Turkey – directly, and through sub-distributors. The Turkish distributor distributes products of leading medical device companies.

The distribution agreements are exclusive and are valid for five years, while initial sales are expected already in the current quarter. As part of the agreement, the distribution company has committed to purchase at least NIS 9 million of Allium's urological stents and products for pelvic floor organ prolapse repair over a period of five years, and according to minimum annual purchase requirements that have been set.

Asaf Alperovitz, CEO of the Allium Group: "These distribution agreements are significant to the company both from potential revenue and profitability. The Turkish market, which has seen many upheavals in the last years, was one of the company's largest markets in 2013-2014, together with the German market. We are happy to have found, after a thorough and structured search, a suitable partner that distributes in Turkey products of the world's leading companies, and specializes in urological and gynecologic products. We believe that this distributor will leverage the strong reputation we have built in Turkey, which is the result of excellent clinical experience of leading Turkish doctors, with the goal of attaining rapid growth in this market. We expect to record our initial sales from these agreements during the third quarter of this year."

Within the framework of the agreement, the distributor has fully undertaken the duty of marketing and sales in Turkey, to take marketing steps according to an annual plan that was coordinated with the company, and to hold instructional workshops for doctors that will be using the company's products. The agreements include provisions concerning the protection of the company's intellectual property rights, confidentiality, indemnification, the parties' limits of liability, and additional provisions that are practically acceptable in medical devices distribution agreements. In the event the distributor will meet all of its contractual obligations, the agreement will be extended for an additional periods of time.

About Allium Medical

Allium is an Israeli company that specializes in minimally invasive medical solutions and presents a variety of technologies and product lines in this area. The Company's strategy is to create value by expanding the basis of internal developments and by purchasing product lines and additional technologies. The Company is run by leading professionals with knowhow and experience in rapid promotion of products, from the development stage to the commercial stage, while ensuring long-term financing and economies of scale.